Where Does My Life Go Now? Discernment in the shadow of the pandemic

Spend a Day with Wess Daniels

“In A Time of Transition: Seeds of Change, Roots of Strength”

As individuals and the Religious Society of Friends, we are living in a time of dramatic transition. With Friends’ practices of openness, deep listening, and communal discernment, transition can be a time of great potential and renewal. In our time together, we will consider ways of moving through this time that can open us up towards growth and prepare us for the change that is coming.

C. Wess Daniels, Ph.D. is the William R. Rogers Director of Friends Center & Quaker Studies at Guilford College. He lives in Greensboro, North Carolina with his wife, Emily, their three children and their rescue dog, Magnolia. Identifying as a “convergent Friend,” Wess is a bridge-builder and boundary-crosser and is interested in teaching liberating faith and practice and the revitalization of faith traditions that work toward justice.

Join us Saturday, May 1, 2021 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. via Zoom
